a walk on the Newport Cliff

It is rather hard to credit the fact that the photo at top of the churning surf and the pool-like water below were taken within one hour and within 2 miles. Such is the marvelous variety of the cliff walk on the island of Newport in Rhode Island. If you are looking for a winter break you can take a week and fly to the Virgin Islands or you can pick a sunny day and drive to cliffs, and you feel alone with the sea.

The walk can be made in its entirety or can be sampled at various points in relays. It has been newly reconstructed so that it is easy going until the very tip where the trail becomes a most interesting climb over bedrock. At each stage there are the spectacular views that attracted the super wealthy of the old Newport who built their palatial cottages on the face of this cliff.

The cliff walk starts just above the Newport beach and winds along the coast past the "cottages" and turns around the outer coast toward the 10 mile drive. It is open and free to all who love to walk and this trek beats most on the eastern seaboard for height and beauty.

AIN'T WHAT THEY USED TO BE MATTAPOISETT SELECTMEN'S MEETING
JANUARY 2, 1990 - by VIRGINIA MORGAN

The town reports of past years that Mattapoisett residents have been used to receiving free every year will be much different with the 1989 annual report. Not only will the appearance change but the "free" may also change.

Because of budget constraints voted at special town meetings, only $1,000 was voted to print and distribute town reports and the annual warrant for the annual town meeting. In 1988 the amount spent was about $8,600 which included pictures.

Selectmen's Administrator Lois K. Ennis informed Selectmen last Tuesday that "we may have to charge for the assessors' list of property owners and taxes, and print that part separate from the town report. It could be put on the copy machine and sold separately."

The administrator explained that legally there are certain things that have to be done, and printing an annual report and warrant are among those certain things. She said "we could retype the reports submitted by town departments on the computer and print out for distribution." A third alternative, she added, is that some towns are accepting advertising in the town reports.

Selectmen William F. Hubbard and John N. DeCosta were not in favor of separating the assessors' list from the town report. (Selectmen Chairman Bernard F. Talty was absent.) The Selectmen requested Ms. Ennis check with Old Colony Regional Vocational-Technical High School printing department for cost estimates.

This reporter has copies of town reports that date to the late 1890s as I imagine many other residents have also. They do make interesting reading; such as the 1901, almost 100 years ago. In 1901 the tax rate was $9.50 per thousand, not that different from last year's at $9.90 per thousand and this year's at $10.30 per thousand. Of course, the valuation of property in 1901 was just $1,576,308 as opposed to 1988 of $542,923,093. (One million to 542 million.) Also, in 1901 there were 378 dwelling houses

MET WITH members of the Planning Board to officially accept the Board's Growth Management Plan and Land Use Plan.

Planning Board Chairman William H. Matthews explained, "We feel this plan addresses the concerns of the community for the future. A lot of other boards and committees helped and worked with Burk Ketcham Associates in putting together the plan and making it readable. Some changes will cost money, others won't. Some will take some monitoring over the years. Such things as land purchases and developing will obviously be guided by the economy, but they should be considered with the town meeting casting its vote."

The Chairman added that water supply and aquifer protection should be the first priority; cluster zoning, second; summer home conversion, third. Mr. Matthews said his board is still working with the Board of Health on the issue of water and septic systems in converted homes. Selectman Hubbard noted that water and sewer construction should be continued on a small scale - a little at a time and not necessarily a big project. "The Town also needs a professional engineer or planner to ride herd on these plans and future plans."

The Planning Board Chairman explained that "Route 195 split the town in half and prevented a grid-type pattern of growth. North Street is the only main road getting traffic from the village to the north of town. We need to develop another road from Route 6 next to the A & P, and this would open up an area for more development. There is, however, some wetland to the rear."

Member Richard E. Chase commented the Conservation Commission needs to work with the Planning Board. Certain areas may need to be developed, he added.

Mr. Matthews said now that "you have officially accepted the plan, you have two weeks to make comments, then we have 60 days in which to call a hearing on the 12 recommended issues, then the Planning Board will vote to adopt the Plan, with copies going to the state Chamber of Commerce. Town meeting members will vote on the zoning changes."

Although Selectmen Chairman Talty was not present he had indicated his acceptance prior to the meeting.

ACCEPTED WITH REGRET the resignation of William B. Keavy as Mattapoisett's representative to the Old Colony Vocational-Technical School Committee. A letter will be sent by Selectmen to Mr. Keavy thanking him for his many years of service.

WERE NOTIFIED by Town Counsel regarding the Cafeteria plan for town employees that would pay medical bills with before taxed money, that Selectmen should request other companies to bid and that employee unions should be notified of the town's intention to offer this opportunity to the employees before proceeding further.

Andrew Lynch's leave of absence makes no mention of his Blue Cross/Blue Shield coverage being continued. Selectmen repeated their previous statements that they had no knowledge of the leave of absence nor continued coverage.

Administrator Ennis said, "Massachusetts Superintendency Union #55 policies for non-instructional staff has a section on insurance. Under provisions of Chapter 32B of the General Laws, the School Committee as the appropriate public authority reserves the right to determine eligibility for participation in its group insurance plan." Ms. Ennis said it appears Mr. Lynch's insurance continued on a silent vote - neither for or against.

The present question posed by Mattapoisett School Committee Chairman Clara D. Morgan at a previous Selectmen's meeting, "can we continue the insurance coverage of a non-instructional employee until next September who is on a leave of absence?" Mrs. Morgan said she will look into this ruling.

NOTED THE semi-annual Lottery distribution is $15,149 for the first half of the Cherry Sheet, a 16 percent lower distribution than last year.

Unlike eye care franchises, we at Oxford Family Eye Care look at ourselves as a health care service - not a retail operation. Eye care is too important to be reduced to 2 for 1 sales and other gimmicks. Yes - we do carry a large selection of frames, but more important is the quality service we provide each customer. This means prescriptions are filled accurately and quickly and frames are fitted properly. We have never bought anyone's satisfaction - we have always earned it!

The salt shaker is probably something we can live without. Too much salt in our diet can contribute to high blood pressure and a host of other illnesses.

Flaherty, 5 Hamlin Road, expressing his support of the planned dock expansion at the Mattapoisett Boatyard.

The letter reads, in part, "Over the years more and more waterfront property has become developed for private use; thereby restricting public access to the water, except for those owners with waterfront property. As a result, it become more and more important to keep those facilities functioning which do provide public access and more importantly, provide water related services such as fuel for boats, dockage and boat repair to boaters like myself.

"Mattapoisett is a community with a deep tradition in the ship building industry and boating in general, and at one time, boatyards lined a good portion of the waterfront in the inner harbor. Mattapoisett Boatyard is the last remaining waterfront boatyard in the harbor, and with strong demand and the current price of waterfront real estate, there will be no others built.

"As a neighbor of the boatyard, I was concerned with increased traffic caused by this expansion, and after expressing my concerns to Art McLean (owner of the Mattapoisett Boatyard), I am confident that the traffic issue has been adequately addressed."

RECEIVED A LETTER of APPLICATION from Eleanor C. Lewis, 101 Acushnet Road expressing interest in the vacant position on the Personnel Board.

A note from Anthony I. Sobral, manager, says, "Our proposal is to present live entertainment, with dancing by patrons only possibly two or three nights per week. The character of the structure of the premises and its location is such that the proposed live entertainment should present no disturbance for any residential neighbor. The building is heavily insulated and has an acoustical tile ceiling. In addition, the music will be of the 'mellow' type."

RECEIVED A LETTER from Jane and Richard Chase, 36 Fairhaven Road expressing concern with the increasing number of hunters in the vicinity of Eel Pond. "This area is within shooting range of our property and many others surrounding the Eel Pond. It borders the Railroad Avenue section from Depot Street to the town-owned section of beach between Dan Mahoney's and Reservation Beach where the town residents walk and/or hike daily.

"We feel that the hunting there is a potential danger to the people and the children who play in that area. This is a formal request to have you (Selectmen) post 'no hunting' signs at the stone pillars on Railroad Avenue and at the end of Reservation Beach (or the beginning of the town beach) where the hunters enter that area. Then maybe the police department will take some action.

"Need we be reminded of a few years ago when a golfer was shot by a bullet that ricocheted from an area off Depot Street

Selectmen agreed to request the State Department of Natural Resources check the area to determine if, and where, signs should be placed. State law prohibits shooting within 500 feet of a dwelling and 150 feet from a paved way.

Selectman Hubbard noted "we can only post signs on town-owned property and much is privately owned, mostly by Reservation Golf Club." Selectmen Hubbard and DeCosta agreed to do what they can to prevent any accidents.

From the Town Clerk

TOWN OF MATTAPOISETT

Mattapoisett Town Clerk Lois K. Ennis announces that nomination papers are now available for the April 3, 1990 Town Election. All interested persons should apply for papers as soon as possible. The last day for taking out papers is February 9, 1990.

The Annual Census forms are being mailed to all households in Mattapoisett. Your prompt response to this mailing will be greatly appreciated. Check your form, make any necessary corrections and return to the Town Clerk's Office. If you have not received a Census Form call 758-6707 and you may give the information over the phone or have a form mailed to you.

This 1990 census is extremely important. For the first time, we are able to have input into the final FEDERAL CENSUS which will be conducted later in the year. I have structured the census data in the Town Clerk's Office and written computer programs to calculate the number of dwellings in each Federal Census Block, of which there are approximately 1000. Based upon our local counts, I can then document any disputes we may have with the Federal Government, when they submit their numbers to us.

This year's count can have tremendous im-

Town Election, 3 Months Away

by VIRGINIA MORGAN

We are barely into the new year, but plans are being made now for those seeking election for town offices in the April 3 town election. Mattapoisett Town Clerk Lois K. Ennis says nomination papers are ready and may be obtained during business hours.

Selectman William F. Hubbard has announced he will not seek re-election. This was his first three-year term at this time; however, Mr. Hubbard served as Selectman from 1973 to 1982. Selectman Hubbard said he needs the rest after handling health problems at the same time as he served as volunteer clerk of the works for the construction of the new police station, working at his job as Plant Superintendent at Old Colony Vocational-Technical High School, in addition to the many extra hours serving on the

No further information about the plot will be forthcoming.

Art and Antiques Auction

Of great interest to art and antiques collectors is a prestigious mid-winter auction of impressive potential being planned for January 14th in South Dartmouth. The event will begin at 1 p.m. in Southworth Library, 732 Dartmouth Street.

A spontaneous undertaking by public-spirited citizens of the town, the sale will further the on-going fund-raising drive to finance the installation of an outside elevator at Southworth, the town's main library, to help the elderly and handicapped patrons of the facility.

With a fund objective of $150,000, the volunteers recently passed the half-way mark with donations and pledges from area citizens and businesses and a promised grant of $26,000 from the federal government.

Selected paintings by upwards of a score of prominent and accomplished artists will be offered at this first ever local public sale of their works, freely contributed to the cause.

Besides works of art, distinctive antiques in many categories will be put up on the auction block for State Representative/ Auctioneer John George, Jr. to award to the fortunate high bidders. Asisting him will be the personable Donna Sachs in the role of Mistress of Ceremonies. She will be relating to the audience vital background details relative to the origin and history of the antiques, as well as biographical data concerning the artists.

"We, the Committee", said Committeewoman Hope Atkinson, "have collected fine pieces of Americana and Victoriana - also many collectibles and a host of other assorted items of interest, to say nothing of their value, to collectors and people in general who admire lovely things from our past. For example, an early American wooden spicebox set, complete in every way, will go on the auction block. So, too, will a photograph of a New Bedford whaler attributed to Albert Cook Church; Dedham pottery signed A.R., and a lovely Chinese terracotta jardiniere, a relic of the China trade, in perfect condition. All these should provide for some lively bidding. Westporters will want to vie for an 1871 map of the Head of Westport, while doll collectors will find an early Mammy Doll irresistible."

Notable among the paintings to be offered are an oil painting of Cuttyhunk by the late Harry Neyland, whose growing posthumous repute has incited great interest and demand; a large oil titled "Prickly Pears" by Isabel Branson Cartwright, a Philadelphia painter of the late 19th and early 20th centuries. It was exhibited in 1924 at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, where in 1904 she was gold medal winner for watercolors. Framed in a gold leaf mount four feet square, the treasured work was donated by an old Dartmouth family.

Another nationally known personality, Norman Fortier, is a noted marine photographer and watercolorist; his work is included in many books of maritime history. His studio is in Padanaram. He has donated a watercolor.

An oil titled "Naushon" and a watercolor, "Sunbleach", have been contributed by Frank McCoy, Kansas-born, now a longtime New Englander and a professor at Southeastern Massachusetts University. Well-known locally for his work, he is a professional artist who has won several prestigious awards.

A pen and ink with watercolors, "Pussywillows", has been submitted by Evelyn Benham, another New Englander "by adoption" who resides in the little village community of Russells Mills, Dartmouth. Although she was 56 before she earned her art degree, she soon demonstrated her talent to connoisseurs of wildflower paintings and was commissioned by museums to illustrate and catalog wild flowers on museum property.

At the easel with vastly different interests is Peter London, professor of art education at S.M.U. A modernist in style, Dr. London has exhibited widely in the region and is well-known for his striking depiction of Biblical characters.

Large, colorful watercolors of local farm scenes will be included in the sale. The Paiva farm on Chase Road, soon to be demolished by developers, is depicted by a distinguished artist and well-known local conservationist, George Connett of Meadow Shores; and a colorful rendition of Stone Barn Farm, built in the 19th century in the Allen's Neck area, is executed with bravura by the talented watercolorist and teacher Roy Langley, formerly an instructor at Swain School, New Bedford, but now living and teaching in Canaan, NY. Two highly successful illustrators will have work represented in the sale: Carol Way Leeson is renowned for her delightful animal paintings and her illustrations often carry a humorous touch with them, adding charm to the children's books in which they appear. Her work has been collected and exhibited in Europe. A sample of her art appears in the February issue of Better Homes and Gardens. Ann Barrow is also a successful illustrator of children's books, such as "A Visit from Dr. Katz" by Ursula LeGuin (which will be put up for auction). Much of Mrs. Barrows' work, however, is in creating greeting cards; she has been commissioned by many of the best-known card companies in America.

Space limitation precludes enumeration of names and notes for all of the 20 odd artists whose work will be auctioned on January 14th. It will be on display, however, on January 13th at Southworth Library during a pre-registration and preview party from 3 to 7 p.m., during which the antiques and collectibles may also be viewed. Refreshments will be served to attendees. The $5. fee for the preview party will be refunded by half with the buyer's first purchase on the following day at the auction.

Boston Children's Museum

"WHAT IF YOU COULDN'T...?
OPENS IN JANUARY

What if you couldn't walk? Or talk, or hear, or see? On January 23rd The Children's Museum will open "What If You Couldn't...?", an exhibition which helps children, parents and teachers gain a better understanding of disabilities and people who have special needs.

"Kids are naturally curious about people who may look or act differently from themselves", says Sue Bruce, Exhibition Developer. "A lot has changed since the mainstreaming legislation of 1976. However, kids still have the same questions. In 'What if You Couldn't...?' we hope to answer their questions, and those of their parents, as openly and directly as possible, and in an engaging and non-threatening way."

Dealing with sensitive topics, the exhibition helps visitors feel comfortable talking and learning about disabilities and most of all, assures them that it's ok to have questions. The approach of the exhibit is straightforward. There is a dual text providing simple information for children and more detailed information for older visitors. It is designed so that adult companions will be able to interpret more complicated issues that come up for children accompanying them.

The exhibition examines six areas: physical, learning, emotional and developmental disabilities, and visual and hearing impairments. Each exhibit area begins by describing the disability and its cause in order to dispel any myths that encourage stereotypes. Children then have a chance to "experience" the disability. They can maneuver a wheelchair, try on leg braces, walk through a maze blind folded, look through lenses that simulate visual impairments, try on masks reflecting different emotions, or try writing in a mirror box.

"What If You Couldn't...?" also shows some of the intriguing equipment and techniques that help people with disabilities lead independent lives.

There is a braille typewriter, a racing wheelchair used in road races and marathons, a talking clock, an opportunity to learn American Sign Language, and more.

Most importantly, "What if You Couldn't" asks children to put themselves in the place of a person with a disability and think about how they would feel. It is hoped that they realize that, although there may be differences between people, there are also many similarities.

In conjunction with "What if You Couldn't...?" the Museum will present a photo exhibit, "My Mommie Drives a Wheelchair: A Portrait of a Family". Realizing that most public attention is focused on children with disabilities, photographer Sarah Putnam became interested in another unique group of people - parents with disabilities. Her exhibition is of a Boston area mother, a quadriplegic, who overcame many obstacles and individuals who pressured her to give up her child, in order to control her own life and raise her daughter. The photographs depict her daily life with her husband and her rambunctious six year old daughter, as she ably juggles her job and many volunteer commitments while caring for her family.

Funding for "What if You Couldn't...?" has been provided by Ronald McDonald Children's Charities. The Children's Museum also thanks the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics Association for providing all equipment in the exhibition and the friends and family of Claire Derry who provided funding for a resource area in her memory featuring books and videotapes on special needs.

The Children's Museum is located at 300 Congress Street in Boston. The Museum is open Tuesday through Sunday, 10-5; open Fridays until 9 p.m. Admission is $5. for children (2-15) and senior citizens; $6. for other adults; one year olds are $2.; kids under one are free. The answers to these questions vary according to the type of car you drive, the tires currently on your car, and your budget, says John F. Paul, Manager Automotive Technical services for AAA.

"For drivers who want good traction, stopping, and cornering, radial snow tires are the answer", Paul says, pointing out that radial snow tires will result in lower gas mileage, a noisier ride on dry pavement, and should be used only during the winter months. And remember, radial snows are not as effective on bare and wet road surfaces as regular radials.

The "all-season" radials are what the term implies -- good in snow and good on clear pavement.

"Front wheel drive vehicles provide an extra measure of traction in winter driving, but if you're going to use snow tires, AAA recommends using them on all four wheels for added traction when stopping," Paul suggests.

"When you select a tire for winter conditions, look for the description 'M & S', which means the tire meets the mud and snow criteria.

"Tire chains aren't used much now, but for getting around in snow and on ice they can't be beat. Studded snow tires - permitted from November 2 to April 30 in Massachusetts - are also very effective.

"If your car is equipped with non-radial bias ply tires snow tires of the seam non-radial type will improve traction", he says.

Remember, too, to check tire pressure periodically, but only before the car has been driven while tires are cold.

Q. My husband says sunglasses are unnecessary because nature has given us sufficient protection. Is he right?

A. Natural sun protection was once sufficient but it no longer is.

Glare bouncing off car trim, pavement and buildings is one thing with which our ancestors did not have to contend. Then, too, we spend most of our day indoors and our eyes have become acclimated to less brightness.

Our longer lifespan also plays a part. Recent research indicates that long-term exposure to the sun's ultraviolet radiation can contribute to some types of cataracts. Out eyes' lenses have natural UV protection but it is not enough for our average lifetime.

In addition, people who have cataract surgery, one of the most common operations performed today, lose all of their natural UV protection.

There are many types of sun lenses available today. So ask your optometrist's advice in finding the ones that will best meet your needs.

one. You may cancel a power of attorney at any time by notifying VA.

Q. I just got married. Does my wife automatically become the beneficiary of my VA insurance policy?

A. No. You must notify the VA that you wish to make a change and provide complete identification of the new beneficiary.

Q. Can the interest rate on a VA home loan be changed?

A. The prevailing interest rate at the time the loan is made, established by the Government and set forth in the mortgage note, is a fixed non-adjustable rate mortgage which remains the same for the life of the loan. However, to take advantage of a lower interest rate refinancing of an existing loan could be an option.

Q. Why are "points" charged on VA-guaranteed home loans?

A. Generally lenders require discount points (a percentage of the loan) when they consider the maximum VA interest rate to be too low to produce the yield or income that other investments would provide. The amount of the discount to be paid is a matter of negotiation between the seller and the lender. The VA has no direct control over the charging of points.

Q. I received an evaluation of my service-connected condition which was rated zero percent by the VA. What advantage is there to having such a disability status?

A. There are several advantages, the most important of which is having a record

Nemasket Group

EXHIBITION - INTO THE INK

The Nemasket Gallery is pleased to announce the opening on Friday, January 12th, of INTO THE INK - PRINTMAKING ARTISTS WORKING ON GLASS, WOOD, PAPER & FABRIC from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. The Gallery's first exhibition of the new decade features work by seven artists - S.T. Corrigan, Debra Photopoulos, Krishna Reddy, Naomi Ribner, Marc St. Pierre, Don Wilkinson and Kurt Wisneski. Into the Ink has been organized by Don Wilkinson, a second year graduate student and printmaker at Southeastern Massachusetts University.

Peggi Medeiros, Nemasket Gallery Director, noted recently, "Into the Ink is an exhibition unlike any we have shown before. It combines the work of young printmakers, just starting in their field, with that of an artist with the international reputation of Krishna Reddy. It features work by teaching faculty at S.M.U. and Wellesley College. It includes artists who are working on non-traditional surfaces such as glass, fiber, and wood with the more historically accepted paper. We all feel that it will be an exciting start to a new decade
